The Farmer's Wife

Is very careful about her churn. She scalds it thoroughly after using, and gives it a sun bath to sweeten it. She knows that if her churn is sour it will taint the butter that is made in it. The stomach is a churn. In the stomach and digestive and nutritive tracts are performed processes which are almost exactly like the churning of butter. Is it not apparent then that if this stomach-churn is foul it makes foul all which is put into it?

The evil of a foul stomach is not alone the bad taste in the mouth and the foul breath caused by it, but the corruption of the pure current of blood and the dissemination of disease throughout the body. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery makes the sour and foul stomach sweet. It does for the stomach what the washing and sun bath do for the churn—absolutely removes every tainting or corrupting element. In this way it cures blotches, pimples, eruptions, scrofulous swellings, sores, or open eating ulcers and all humors or diseases arising from bad blood.

If you have bitter, nasty, foul taste in your mouth, coated tongue, foul breath, are weak and easily tired, feel depressed and despondent, have frequent headaches, dizzy attacks, gnawing or distress in stomach, constipated or irregular bowels, sour or bitter risings after eating and poor appetite, these symptoms, or any considerable number of them, indicate that you are suffering from biliousness, torpid or lazy liver with the usual accompanying indigestion, or dyspepsia and their attendant derangements.

The best agents known to medical science for the cure of the above symptoms and conditions, as attested by the writings of leading teachers and practitioners of all the several schools of medical practice, have been skillfully and harmoniously combined in Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. That this is absolutely true will be readily proven to your satisfaction if you will but mail a postal card request to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., for a free copy of his booklet of extracts from the standard medical authorities, giving the names of all the ingredients entering into his world-famed medicines and showing what the most eminent medical men of the age say of them.

A NURSE'S CONFESSION.

As a result of religious enthusiam Aurelia Lightborne, sixteen years old, a West Indian, confessed to atrocious treatment of a child two years old and was locked up in the Nassau county, jail Saturday. Aurelia was a maid in the home of William J. Purdy, of Rockville Centre, and had been in his employ for the last two years. Recently the little son of Mr. Purdy has been frequently ill, and no cause could be attributed to his condition. On examination his stomach was found to be a veritable receptacle of hairpins, matches and safety pins. About this time religious fervor struck the girl, and she became absorbed in the prospective building of a new Baptist Church. After a meeting she returned to the Purdy home Saturday and calmly announced that she had been "feeding" Purdy's baby on articles from his mother's pin tray, so that the child would be taken sick and be handed over to the care of the mother, and the girl could go out and enjoy herself. Purdy immediately handed the West Indian over to Justice Connell, who sent her to the Nassau county jail on a charge of assault in the second degree. Though in a serious condition, it is believed the child will recover without an operation being necessary.

The best remedy known today for all stomach troubles is Kodol, which is guaranteed to give prompt relief. It is a natural digestant; it digests what you eat, it is pleasant to take. Sold by W. F. Creighton & Co.

A SPECTACULAR FIRE.

As was stated in the Gazette, the ice floes in the East river at New York were on fire yesterday morning, and everything on land for a distance of over a block along the wharves of the Standard Oil Company's Astral Oil Works branch, at the foot of north Twelfth and north Thirteenth streets, Williamsburg, when 300,000-odd gallons of case naphtha, gasoline and kerosene stored ready for shipment were licked up in sheets of flames. Clusters of refining tanks, crude oil vats and the great gas tanks of the Brooklyn Union Gas Company, all in the immediate vicinity of the fire, made the work of the firemen as ticklish as that of any storming party at Port Arthur, and it was only the quick work of the oil company in emptying the threatened tanks that prevented a much greater spread of the flames.

Before the area of the fire was defined by the hard work of the firemen three buildings and a wharf had been consumed, and the loss to the Standard Oil Company was roughly put at between $250,000 and $300,000.

As far as can be learned, the blaze was started by a workman who put a soldering iron that was red-hot to the lip of the spout on a 10-gallon can of gasoline to remedy a leak in the solder.

Out on the pier, where the fire was hottest, the bombardment of oil cans was too severe for the fireboats to risk at close range. The naptha and gasoline stored there in twin cases of two 10-gallon cans each kept up a constant battery fire, hurling fragments of the corrugated shed, burning brands and burning jets of oil far out over the curdle of ice floes.

As the burning oil dripped down through the holes burned in the flooring it spread like a nest of snakes over the surface of the mush ice in the direction of other wharves nearby. The cloud of steam that rose from the sizzling ice tinged the heavy black smoke that swept out low over the river.

THE PRESIDENT PERPLEXED.

President Roosevelt has not decided to send a special message to Congress on the subject of labor, notwithstanding persistent reports. But it is known that he is very much concerned over the labor situation in the country. This is primarily because of the decision of the U. S. Supreme Court on Monday, February 3, declaring that under the Sherman anti-trust law labor unions were illegal and that boycotts could not be maintained without being in violation of the interstate principle.

He has not yet decided what he will do. He seems to appreciate that the Sherman law has done something that it was not intended to do. When it was up in the House for enactment an amendment was offered exempting labor unions from the provisions of the law. This amendment was objected to on the grounds that no labor union was a trust, nor did one desire to be considered a trust, specified as requiring exemption under the anti-trust law.

What makes the situation one of danger to the republican party is that corporate interests are now pressing the President to proceed against the labor unions, and especially the American Federation of Labor, just as he proceeded against the American tobacco trust, the Northern Securities Company, the beef trust, the paper trust, the elevator trust, the fertilizer trust and various other combinations. It is not at all likely that the administration will yield to these importunities of capital and proceed for the dissolution of the American Federation of Labor or for the enjoining of all their boycotts. At the same time the situation has considerable embarrassment.

There seems to be little prospect of the President obtaining legislation from Congress, even if he should send in a special message.

Neglected Colds Threaten Life.

[From the Chicago Tribune.]

"Don't trifle with a cold," is good advice for prudent men and women. It may be vital in the case of a child. Proper food, good ventilation, and dry warm clothing are the proper safeguards against colds. If they are maintained through the changeable weather of autumn, winter and spring, the chances of a surprise from ordinary colds will be slight. But the ordinary light cold will become severe if neglected, and a well-established ripe cold is the germs of diphtheria what honey is to the bee. The greatest menace to child life at this season of the year is the neglected cold." Whether it is a child or adult, the cold slight or severe, the very best treatment that can be adopted is to give Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It is safe and sure. The great popularity and immense sale of this preparation has been attained by its remarkable cures of this ailment. A cold never results in pneumonia when it is given. For sale by W. F. Creighton and Richard Gibson.

ALEXANDRIA GAZETTE AND VIRGINIA ADVERTISER.

THURSDAY EVENING, FEB. 13, 1908.

STRONG and persistent protests from western republicans were made on Tuesday in the Senate against the Aldrich emergency currency bill and yesterday Mr. Rayner, of Maryland, made a strong speech against it. Despite all the persuasive arguments of Mr. Aldrich himself, and the overwhelming influence of the financial interests, one western republican after another has announced his suspicion of the measure and his disinclination to aid in the perpetration of so palpable a wrong upon the people of the United States. The provision which these independents could not swallow was that which makes railroad bonds a part of the national currency system and makes it possible for stock-gambling banks to unload upon the Treasury of the United States the great masses of railroad securities they have accepted in their efforts to aid Wall street financiers in manipulation of the stock and money markets. The real fight upon the Aldrich bill has hardly begun. What has taken place in the Senate during the past few days is merely a preliminary skirmish. But it is enough to show that the bold scheme of the financial interests to take advantage of national necessities and force upon the country a scheme of legislation intended to benefit these interests at the expense of legitimate business is not to succeed until the full meaning of the scheme has been revealed to the public.

AT THE banquet of the Military Order of the Loyal Legion of the United States held last night in Washington Justice Brewer, of the U. S. Supreme Court, made an address in which he spoke for peace—an enduring peace that could not be brought about by a mighty navy, but which must be founded upon "justice and right." He paid tribute to the 18,000 men now with the American fleet sailing into strange waters, and prayed that they might in time come safely home; but clearly it was his opinion that the voyage was hazardous and unwise. He saw no necessity for a great navy, as the United States was not menaced from any quarter. No trouble would arise, he said, that could not and should not be settled by arbitration, and instead of spending millions to build a mighty navy, which had been done since 1896, the United States should be paying the national debt—a debt that had not been curtailed since the upbuilding of the mighty navy began, twelve years ago. This is good and wise advice but will not be heeded by the jingoes, who now have control of the government.

POSTMASTER GENERAL MEYER yesterday informed the Senate that he believed he has the right to continue appointment in offices even if the nomination formally has been rejected by the Senate. This position raises an issue between an executive department and the Senate over the constitutional provision relating to appointments and confirmations of federal officeholders. The communication from the Postoffice Department relates to the case of William Northup, postmaster at Pensacola, Fla. Senator Taliaferro discovered recently that Northup is still drawing the salary as postmaster in spite of the fact that his nomination was rejected nearly a year ago. At his suggestion the Senate called upon the Postmaster General for an explanation. The response was brief. Mr. Meyer declares that under the regulations governing appointments he has the authority to continue Northup in office until his successor has been appointed. His position undoubtedly will create discussion in executive session.

THE announcements of resumption of industrial activity in several quarters are very gratifying. But while it will not do to indulge in the illusion that good times have already returned, these announcements encourage the hope that with the breaking up of a hard winter the spring will usher in a revival of business where the industrial reaction has been most severely felt.

NIGHT riding goes on in Kentucky unchecked. Fredonia is the latest town to be raided. Governor Willson is making no apparent effort to preserve the law and protect persons and property. Assuredly the State has enough men and money to stop disorders that would disgrace a mining camp or a frontier settlement.

From Washington.

[Correspondence of the Alexandria Gazette.]

Washington, D. C., February 13.

The President has decided to send federal troops to Fairbanks, Alaska, on account of the disorders growing out of the miners strike there. Reports received today by the Department of Justice from United States Marshall Perry, at Fairbanks, were of such a disquieting nature that Attorney General Bonaparte hastened to the White House. It was upon the information contained in the Marshall's telegram that the President decided to utilize federal troops. The department is without information as to the cause of the strike. It is understood that every union mine in the town is cut on a strike. A large number of arrests have been made. Department officials says, that although shots have been exchanged, there has been no destruction of property or serious injuries inflicted as yet. Upon leaving the White House, the Attorney General went to the War Department to confer with acting Secretary of War, Oliver.

President Roosevelt has assured Senator Aldrich of his earnest support of the financial bill now before the Senate bearing the senators names, and will give it the benefit of his influence to secure its passage both in the Senate and House. The President believes, that, under present conditions, and with so many conflicting notions prevailing as to what is the right way to bring about a remodeling of the entire currency system of the country, the only financial legislation that is possible at this session is to provide for an emergency note issue, such as that in the Aldrich bill. While realizing that it is makeshift legislation, as its author admits, the president feels that it is important that something shall be done at this session, and that the Aldrich bill is the most feasible plan that has been offered.

It is proposed to erect a memorial pillar to cost $50,000 in honor of the revolutionary patriot Colonel Burgess Ball, of Springwood, Virginia, in Lafayette Square, or some othe government reservation in this city.

Turning down the President's recommendations that the census enumerators and extra employees in the permanent bureau be placed on the civil service list, the house committee on the census today agree to report out the Crumpacker bill for taking the thirteenth census in 1910.

During a slight fire in the Washington Asylum Hospital early this morning two prisoners escaped but were recaptured after one had attempted suicide.

Chief Engineer Montgomery Fletcher of the United States Navy died at his home in this city today.

The State Department issued today the text of an interview with Count Hayashi in the Mainichi Dempo, of Japan, which was sent by Minister O'Brien as an evidence of the disposition of the Japanese government to solve the emigration problem. Count Hayashi, who is minister of foreign affairs, reiterates that it is to the interest of Japan to settle the question amicably. And asserts that the reported gravity of the situation betwees Japan and the United States arise from the press alone.

News of the Day.

The Moose Hotel, at Williamson, W. Va., 100 miles west of Bluefield, was entirely destroyed by fire today. The fire is still burning and the business section is in the path of the flames. The loss will reach $700,000.

Fighting desperately for the food provided them by a benefactor to relieve the hunger said to exist among countless children in the New York schools, a mob of 1,500 youngsters fairly wrecked Lauber's restaurant. Reserves from two stations had to be called out to restore order.

The first step toward providing employment for New York's army of unemployment, now estimated to exceed 175,000 men, are expected to be taken today by the board of estimate. Unless present plans fail the board will appropriate $10,000,000 with which to begin work on the new subways.

A murder, thought by the police to be the work of two Italians, occurred near Bellaire, O., Tuesday night. Saturday morning the dead body was found lying on a bank of the creek, two miles west of Bellaire. The body had been hacked with a keen-edged knife. The throat had been cut and the abdomen ripped open. The police are inclined to believe that it is a Black Hand crime and think that Smith may have aroused the enmity of members of that organization.

Leaders among the suffragettes who have created so many disturbances recently in the course of their campaign for the ballot declare today that they will soon have London's jails filled to overflowing with martyrs to their cause.

Judge J. W. G. Blackstone, of the Eleventh judicial circuit, against whom charges of immorality, incompetency and neglect of duty have been preferred arrived in Richmond yesterday afternoon. A statement was issued by the friends of Judge Blackstone after a conference declaring that he will not resign under fire, but will fight all of the charges to the end. He defies anybody to make good one assertion of the many accusations which have been brought against him.

The Richmond Chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy, yesterday adopted resolutions recommending to the Battle Abbey committee that the proposed abbey be placed on the site of the Central School, which is located directly in rear of the Confederate Museum, the "white house" of the Confederacy. They recommend that the entire block be purchased and turned into a terrace park, to be known as Davis Park, and that the abbey be conducted in conjunction with the museum. The recommendation was carried by an overwhelming majority.

MAYOR CUTCHIN AND THE GREEKS.

Mayor J. Holoman Cutchin, of Roanoke, yesterday issued a proclamation addressed to the Greeks in that city, in which he pointed out to them that they must obey the laws of Roanoke. He, furthermore, declared that if they suffered any damage to their property in the future, the city will not make good the loss. He told the Greeks that they disregard the Sabbath and advised them to participate in religious worship on that day. The mayor warned his hearers to quit taking the law in their own hands when they have a grievance.

The mayor sent out a call to the Greeks to meet him in the City Hall yesterday afternoon. A score or more of the leaders of the colony responded to the invitation. During the mayor's talk he told the Greeks that had he been treated as some citizens had by Greek restaurant-keepers, he would have knocked their teeth down their throats. The Greeks adopted a resolution in which they promised to do what they could to live there in peace.

Sixtieth Congress.

Washington, Feb. 13.

SENATE.

Alleging that the Aldrich financial bill is drawn solely in the interests of Wall street, and that it puts in the hands of three men, Morgan, Rockefeller and Ryan, the power to create panics and to contract or expand the currency of the country to the extent of $100,000,000 or more at their pleasure, and to their personal profit and advantage, Alfred G. Crozier, of Wilmington, Del., in a sensational petition to the Senate, demand the defeat of the bill. His petition was presented today by Senator Tillman, accompanied by a few characteristic remarks from the South Carolinian.

Mr. Crozier says that the individual wealth of a half dozen "powerful gamesters of Wall street" is enough to create a corner in gold, so that they could "demand any price therefore from those who must have the actual gold to pay the vast quantities of maturing bonds."

"Unwise currency legislation" he says, "will react. It will defeat the party responsible for it, for the people this year are in no mood to overlook the wrong of the enactment of any law believed to be for the express benefit of Wall street. It is believed that Wall street gladly will swap the presidency for the rich fruits and dangerous powers contained in the Aldrich bill, for this would also satisfy the well-known spirit of revenge, and block all progressive legislation between a democratic administration and republican congress."

Speaking of the recent panic, he says: "It appeared, providentially, just before this session of congress. Many believe it was caused by its promoters to pinch the country into hurrying Congress to hastily pass the currency legislation they desire, to punish the administration for enforcing the laws without fear or favor, to advance interest rates, and to reduce wages of labor and prices of securities and property for their lawless purposes and profit.

"The powerful master of Wall street," he continues, "sat in the gallery of the United States Senate the other day and nodded approval, as the distinguished author of the Aldrich bill spoke in advocacy of the measure."

A bill appropriating $225,000 for a new revenue cutter for Narragansett Bay, was reported favorably today from the Senate committee on commerce.

Mr. Culberson introduced an amendment which he will later offer to the Aldrich financial bill, requiring all national banks to keep in their vaults the legal reserve and providing for the collection of interest on public deposits as follows: From August to November, inclusive two per cent per annum; from December to March, inclusive, four per cent and from April to July, six per cent.

HOUSE.

Charging the republicans with trying to work a "stupendous confidence game" on the American people by declaring in their next platform for tariff revision, without indicating whether that revision is to be up or down? Mr. Champ Clark hurled another philippic in the House today. Replying to republican floor leader Payne's recent tariff speech, Clark said: "Mr. Payne's position seems to be about this—Tariff revision and a maximum and minimum tariff should be brought about. The republicans have had absolute control of all branches of the government for eleven years, and have left undone in this regard that which they ought to have done; but if the people will only overlook past omissions and give them a new lease of power, they will revise the tariff either up or down, and establishe a maximum or minimum tariff with the Dingley rates for either the maximum or minimum, he is not exactly certain which; and American voters are asked to go to the polls and buy these two tariff pigs in a poke."

Referring to the diversity of opinion concerning President Roosevelt, Mr. Clark said:

"He cannot express his views upon any question under heaven without precipitating a row, his extreme adherents swearing that there never has been such a weather prophet on earth since Adam and Eve were driven from the Garden of Eden, and his extreme enemies vociferating that he knows no more about the weather than does a ground-hog."

Taking up the financial situation Mr. Clark said:

"The republican panic gave the lie direct to the platform declaration of 1904, that 'a republican tariff is always followed by business prosperity, and a democratic tariff by business adversity.'"

Mr. Clark challenged the republican leaders to show their sincerity in the Roosevelt measures. He promised if they would ask unanimous consent for the passage of an employers' liability bill every democrat would give his consent; that an anti-injunction bill if so brought in, would go through like greased lighting; that a campaign publicity bill would be greeted with a democratic whoop; and likewise would a bill to take the tariff off wood pulp and paper be treated by the minority.

WANTS MORGAN FOR PRESIDENT.

The Detroit, Mich., Journal printed an interview yesterday with Hon. Leslie M. Shaw, in which Mr. Shaw states that he would like to see J. Pierpont Morgan president of the United States "Of course that remark might be, will be, I might say, misunderstood," continued Mr. Shaw, "but I will tell you this. Mr. Morgan is a much misunderstood man. If he was President he would give an administration that would rank with the best in history of our executives.

"Mr. Morgan is a big man, morally and mentally. If he was in the White House he would sink his own interests entirely and devote himself to the paramont questions confronting the country, bringing to bear calm, strong judgment that has made him such a power in the world of finance.

"Understand, I do not regard him in the holy light that certain people have tried to thrown around him because of his course in the recent panic. For every dollar that was given to the imperilled banks and trust companies Mr. Morgan exacted $2 gild-edged securities. I know the man and I admire him, and if he was president he would fill the place as he has filled his financial niche—as the biggest man in the country.

The Legislature.

SENATE.

Senator Parks yesterday offered a joint resolution, which calls upon the Virginia delegation in Congress to vote against unrestricted immigration from southern Europe to the United States.

The senate finance committee has reported the Sale bill providing for setting aside the sum of 1 1-2 per centum of revenues for a military fund.

Under the terms of the bill the members of the organizations will participate in the fund pro rata without regard to branch to which attached.

The Senate passed the resolution which requires the corporation commission, the auditor and the attorney-general to consider the question of segregating the taxable property of the State and the advisability of having the public service corporations pay all the State taxes and to permit the counties to fix their own levies for local purposes. The resolution now goes to the House.

The senate committee for courts of justice has reported favorably the resolutions seeking to amend the constitution so as to provide for the destroying of the old feature for ninety, instead of sixty days sessions of the Legislature. These resolutions have already been adopted by the House.

The following bills were passed.

To amend an act to provide for furnishing by county treasurers a list of those who are residents of or voters in the incorporated towns of the Commonwealth who have paid their State capitation taxes six months prior to a regular election to be held in the incorporated towns of which they are residents.

To amend an act to provide for lists of all persons who have paid their State poll taxes, and for posting the same; and providing compensation therefor.

HOUSE

The bill for the straight repeal of the anti-parselling privilege of the Richmond, Fredericksburg and Potomac Railway was adopted by the House, the vote standing 87 to 8 in favor of the repeal, with five members absent. All amendments to the straight repeal were voted down, the bill being adopted just as it came from the Senate.

The repeal means that the monopoly of traffic between Fredericksburg, Alexandria and Washington will be broken, and that the Goulds are at liberty to build their long contemplated line to Tidewater and to open the way for the entrance of the Wabash system into Virginia. It is possible under the new conditions for the people to obtain a reasonably good service into Washington. The repeal meets with the hearty approbation of the people all over the State.

The joint committee on confirmations met last night, but no action was taken relative to charges against Judge William F. Rhea, of Bristol, named for corporation commissioner. The committee will meet again today when a report will be made. It can be stated authoritatively that there will be no minority report, but two, and possibly three, members of the committee will oppose the confirmation of Judge Rhea.

The democratic members of the two Houses of the legislature, in joint caucus, last night agreed upon the terms of the redistricting bill, now pending, which takes Floyd county from the Fifth district and places it in the Sixth, Craig county being transferred from the Ninth to the Tenth district. The change strengthens the democratic vote in the Fifth district.

There was much disappointment expressed in the legislature yesterday, when it was announced that William Jennings Bryan would be unable to accept the invitation to address the General Assembly of Virginia. The invitation had been extended to him by Gov. Swanson.

The State is to be asked to appropriate the sum of $85,000 for an addition to the State Library Building in Richmond. The idea is to remove all the offices at present on the ground floor of the building and to place therein the State exhibit of minerals and metals at the Jamestown Exposition, which has been presented to the State and which is valued at $100,000. The bill was presented by Delegates Baker and Jennings, and went to the finance committee.

Mr. Montague is going after the land-grabbers. In his bill presented in the House he proposes to repeal an act entitled "An act to authorize the sale of lots purchased by the Commonwealth for delinquent taxes, and not redeemed within four years or more." The finance committee will consider the proposed measure.

The bill in reference to protection of sheep and other stock in the counties of this State has been passed as amended, by striking out the section which provides that in cases where owners or keepers of dogs fail to have the animals listed for taxation the owner or keeper is to be adjudged guilty of misdemeanor.

PLANS APPROVED.

City Engineer Fendall of Baltimore is the victor in the controversy at the City Hall in that city over plans for the Edmondson avenue bridge across Gwynne Falls, which he prepared with the assistance of Mr. W. J. Douglas, of Washington. The Board of Awards approved the plans yesterday and gave the contract for building the bridge to the Baltimore Ferro-Concrete Company at its bid of $179,516.

Mr Feudall and his consulting engineer, who is engineer of bridges the District of Columbia, answered Building Inspector Preston's recent communication to the board declaring that the plans called for an unsafe structure. They defended the plans, and declared that they did provide for a perfectly safe bridge in every detail. The statements of Mr. Fendall and Mr. Douglas were substantiated by Major General John S Sewell, of the Engineer Corps, U. S N., and by Mr. Henry Kampmann, a noted engineer from Paris, who is now chief engineer of the Baltimore Ferro-Concrete Company. Mr. Kampmann declared the plans to be the best that could be prepared, and said he was willing to give bond for the safety of the bridge.

Major Sewell spoke highly of Engineer Douglas, and said he had gone over the Edmondson avenue plans very carefully. There was not the slightest doubt in the major's mind that the bridge, if built in accordance with the Fendall-Douglas plan, would be as safe as it was possible to make a bridge.

Today's Telegraphic News.

From Richmond.

[Special Dispatch to the Alexandria Gazette.]

Richmond, Feb. 13.—Governor Swanson today signed the R., F. & P. repeal bill which is now a law. He gave the pen with which he signed the measure to Edmund Pendleton, editor of the Richmond Evening Journal.

The Senate today appointed members of a joint legislative committee to confer with a similar committee from the Maryland legislature on the protection of oysters and fish in the Potomac.

Conditions in Portugal.

London, Feb. 13.—Announcement that King Manuel's new cabinet has decided to "rescind none of the dictatorial decrees promulgated during the last days of King Carlos' reign, except those offensive to public dignity," has given Portugal a tremendous shock, according to advices from Lisbon today.

England is not much better pleased than are the Portuguese, either. It has large interests—both financial and political—in the little kingdom, and statesmen here fear the practical continuation of the dictatorship will be followed immediately by a renewal of the disturbances which culminated in the assassination of King Carlos and Crown Prince Luiz.

The fact that the country had been led to expect a policy of conciliation and a prompt return to constitutional government gives the latest developments the aspect of a bitter disappointment, and it is believed its effect will be even worse than had it been understood from the first that the new king would make no modifications in the iron-handed form of Franco's rule.

Former Premier Franco, now at Genoa, is reported as keeping close inside his hotel, receiving no one and maintaining a strong guard of detectives over his apartments.

The U. S. Fleet.

Valparaiso, Chili, Feb. 13—From what is known today of the American battleship squadron's whereabouts, it is figured here that the fleet will be off Valparaiso tomorrow.

Though the ships cannot enter this port, elaborate preparations have been made for a display in their honor as they pass. Throngs of people are pouring into Valparaiso from the surrounding towns and every vessel in the port has been chartered to put out to sea for an exchange of greetings with the squadron.

The Chilians are disappointed that Admiral Evans did not see his way clear to a few day's stay at Valparaiso, but they are making the most of his assurance that he will put in close enough to the city to exchange salutes with the shore batteries and the craft which will put out to watch his armada pass.

The Chilian cruiser Chacabuco, which met the American ships at Punta Arenas and has led the squadron from that port, will leave them here. A short distance farther up the coast the squadron will be met by Peruvian cruisers, to act as an escort to Callao, where the next stop will be made.

King Edward Causes Astonishment.

London, Feb. 13.—Government circles are not very seriously considering either the resolution adopted by the Council of the Protestant Alliance expressing the organization's "astonishment and distress" that King Edward should have attended the requiem high mass here for King Carlos of Portugal. That attendance at the mass constituted "communion with the Church of Rome," as described in the bill of rights, is treated as a wholly unreasonable contention. The incident is regarded as a most unfortunate one, however, from the danger that it will produce illfelling over religious matters and perhaps provoke a controversy of the most disagreeable nature. The council's resolutions will probably be wholly ignored in the hope that the circumstance will be permitted to fade from public attention and prevent the much-apprehended quarrel.

Morse Money and Securities.

New York, Feb. 13—United States District Attorney Simson, is said to believe that the reason he can't find more of Chas. W. Morse's money and securities is because financier has at least a large share of them on deposit in a Berlin Bank. Attorney Wing, representing Receiver Hanna, of he National Bank of North America, is understood to have found the evidence indicating that Morse placed a large balance to his credit in Germany some time last fall. The impression is not absolutely verified nor is the amount of the supposed deposit known, though the Wall street thinks the former "Ice King" made a clean up of about $2,000,000 on the market slump. If Morse really has a fortune in Berlin it will be difficult for American claimants against him to lay hands on it.

The Explosion in Providence.

Providence, R. I., Feb. 13.—The first body taken from the still smoking ruins of the Tanner Starch Mill today was that of A. L Chase, the east Providence ship chandler, who was called to the plant by business just before the explosion that cost five lives. Two streams of water playing on the ruins all night cooled them sufficiently to permit systematic work to begin this morning. Hope that any of the four men known to have been in the mixing room in which the explosion occurred escaped with their lives is now abandoned. Their bodies probably have been burned beyond recognition. Of the three victims in the hospital John Smith is in a serious condition. He was passing on the street and was caught by the falling wall.

Leaped from Brooklyn Bridge.

New York, Feb. 13.—Jumping nearly 120 feet from Brooklyn bridge into the ice clogged water of East river in an attempt at suicide, a man who gives his name as John G. Grant, today escaped. He is now in a hospital, a prisoner. Physicians say he will recover. With his arm extended arrow fashion before him as if making a dive his body headed downward. Apparently Grant had aimed to strike a big ice floe below on which his brains would have been battered out. But he missed it and went under the water. When Grant came to the surface he was hooked and pulled aboard a passing tug unconscious. Not a bone in his body was broken, and the physicians say he suffered no severe internal injuries.

The shipping shed of the Standard Oil Co. at Greenpoint Docks in Brooklyn was totally destroyed by fire today. The loss will exceed $400,000.

Bigamist Sentenced.

Bristol, Eng., Feb. 13—Arthur Hyne, the bigamist, believed to be also Geo. Wilzhoff, who is wanted in American cities on charges of a multiplicity of marriages to obtain money from his various brides-was sentenced here to-day to seven years' imprisonment for his too numerous matrimonial alliance and to five years for fraud. At the sentences run concurrently, he will have to serve only the former term.

New York Stock Market.

New York, Feb. 13.—The market showed evidence of decided strength from the opening, with important buying orders in many market leaders. The loan crowd gave indications of an extensive short interest, part of it result of the drive on Tuesday afternoon, while the supply of stocks was reduced in volume and offers were only made at sharp advances over Tuesday's final. Price movements were all to higher levels.

MISS WOODS MARRIED.

The marriage yesterday evening of Miss Mary Watts Woods, of Charlottesville, and Dr. Frank Allemong Lupton, of Birmingham, Ala., was the most brilliant social function in Charlottesville in many years. The bride, owing to her exceptional beauty and charm of manner, had won friends and admirers whatever she went, and the prominence of her parents, with their large circle of kindred, connection and friends, brought together an unusually large number of people prominent in social circles in this and other States, including the hosts of their friends in Charlottesville, at the University of Virginia and in Albemarle county.

The Charlottesville Lodge of Elks tendered to Captain and Mrs. Micajah Woods its beautiful home and building, on High street, in which to hold the wedding reception. The spacious hall and rooms were peculiarly adapted for such a function, and assembled there after the marriage from 9 to 11:30 p. m. was one of the most distinguished and charming gatherings that ever met in Virginia. Nearly 400 guests greeted the bride and groom during the evening

CONGRESSIONAL.

The Aldrich financial bill was before the Senate. A speech by Senator Rayner, in opposition, precipitated a running debate on the question of bank reserves.

At 2 o'clock the financial bill was laid aside, and the remainder of the session was devoted to consideration of the penal code bill.

The nomination of George W. Wanamaker, to be appraiser of merchandise at New York, pending for the past month, was confirmed.

Replying to a Senate resolution, the Postmaster General holds that a postmaster rejected by the Senate may be continued in office without regard to such action.

The Indian appropriation bill finally passed the House as amended in the committee of the whole.

The House conferees reported that an agreement had been reached on amendments to the urgent deficiency bill.

The legislative, executive, and judicial appropriation bill was taken up in committee of the whole.

GRAND LODGE OFFICERS.

At the meeting in Richmond last night of the Grand Lodge of Masons in Virginia, the following officers were elected:

Grand Master, Joseph W. Eggleston, of Richmond.

Deputy Grand Master, J. W. Kellam, of Olney.

Grand Senior Warden, W. B. McChesney, of Charlottesville.

Grand Junior Warden, W. L. Andrews, of Roanoke.

Grand Treasurer, Fred. Pleasants, of Richmond.

Grand Secretary, George W. Carrington, of Richmond.

Grand Senior Deacon, Philip K. Bauman, of Essex.

Grand Junior Deacon, J. D. Wood, of Charlottesville.

Grand Chaplain, George H. Ray, of Spottsylvania.

Grand Pursuivant, James A. Pamplin, of Richmond.

Grand Tiler, James H. Allen, of Richmond.

Grand Steward, William Krouse, of Richmond.

FIVE MEN KILLED.

Five men were killed and three injured by the explosion of a mixer in the starch factory of C. S. Tanner, in Providence, R. I., yesterday afternoon. The building was badly wrecked by the explosion, and fire following completed the work of destruction. In the room when the explosion occurred were four workmen. It is supposed that they were instantly killed, and their bodies subsequently incinerated by the fire. Another workman was in a chandlery store, which occupied a corner of the building. He is supposed to be buried in the ruins. Three colored men who were passing the building at the time were hit by bricks and pieces of mortar, and also suffered burns from hot starch, which was sprinkled liberally about the neighborhood.

DEATH OF COL. PHILLIPS.

Col. James J. Phillips, a member of the New York Camp of Confederate Veterans and organizer of the wholesale fruit firm of Phillips & Son, of New York and Norfolk, died in New York Tuesday at the age of seventy-six years. Col. Phillips was a native of Suffolk, and his body will be taken there for burial. During his service under the Confederacy Col. Phillips was advanced to the command of the Ninth Virginia Regiment. He was wounded in Pickett's charge at Gettysburg, and his death followed recent complications resulting from this old wound, combined with the infirmities of old age.

Rev. Dr. J. J. Lloyd was boarding in the hotel at Big Stone Gap, when it was destroyed by fire recently. The doctor lost about $300 worth of personal effects, his collection of sermons for many years and a diary which he valued highly on account of the notes on church work which it contained.

ENORMOUS REVENUE.

Owing to the fact that the prohibition movement is gaining an extensive foothold in this country it would not be amiss to publish a few facts as to what the other side represents. The brewers, malsters and distillers of the United States consume in the manufacture of their products each year:

36,361,975 bushels of corn, valued at	$27,274,308
62,760,000 bushels of barley, at	62,760,000
5,595,000 bushels of rye, at	3,916,389
Sugar products, hops and assorted grains	16,258,000
Labor (producers only)	54,542,000
Coal and other fuel	5,000,000
Bottles alone	15,000,000
Lumber, rubber goods, steam engines, machinery, tools, steam fitting, plumbers' supplies, filtering material, chemical supplies, paints and varnish, furniture and brushes, packing-house products, advertising signs and printing	150,000,000
Railroad freight and express	20,000,000
Total paid into the producing sources of the United States	$354,851,097

These industries and their allied trades have a total investment of upwards of $3,100,000,000. They pay annually State and government licenses amounting to $271,867,990. In addition they pay city license, real estate and personal property taxes aggregating the enormous total of $84,500,000.

They employ upwards of 6,000,000 people.

Against these interests are arrayed stump speakers supported by churches and charitable organizations which are not even taxed locally. The question may be asked, in the event of the success of the prohibition movement on what class of property would this tax fall in order to make up the deficiency which would exist? Who would furnish employment for these millions who would be thrown on an already overcrowded labor market? Both of these propoaltions deserve serious consideration.

FOUGHT LYNCHERS.

A dispatch from Valdosta, Ga., says: Attacked by a mob of lynchers just across the Florida line Tuesday, Jack Long, a white man, fought his assailants desperately, wounding 10 of them and forcing the others to kill him in the fight. Long was accused of killing James Sapp, a wealthy citizen. A son of Sapp had killed a brother of Long and escaped. Long saw the father of the slayer and shot him to death. Long was arrested, and 50 men visited the prison and took the prisoner out to hang him. A spectator says Long fought the mob to a standstill in the prison, but was knocked cown with a club as he ran out of the door. Then another fight ensued, in which the combined strength of the men was required to subdue the prisoner. A start to a place 400 yards distant was made, but Long fought every inch of the way.

It is said he was beaten to death before he was finally hanged. Four of the members of the mob were wounded so badly that they may die.

Skin Disease of Twenty Years' Standing Cured.

I want you to know how much Chamberlain's Salve has done for me. It has cured my face of a skin disease of almost twenty year's standing. I have been treated by several as smart physicians as we have in this country and they did me no good, but two boxes of this salve has cured me.—Mrs. Fannie Griffen, Troy, Ala. PREPARING FOR EXECUTION.

All the arrangements for the execution of George Midgets, colored, have been made, and the hanging will take place in the southwest corner of the jail yard tomorrow morning. The scaffold was erected over a month ago, and this afternoon it was tested with a 200-pound weight and found to work perfectly.

Midgets still professes to be unconcerned regarding his fate, and persists in saying he prefers hanging to confinement in the penitentiary. This morning several newspaper men and others visited the jail. The condemned man shook hands with them and bid them good bye. He laughed and smoked cigarettes in the meantime. When asked if he really preferred death to imprisonment in the penitentiary, he replied that he did. Midgets said that were he sent to the penitentiary he would die eventually, and he might as well pay the debt of nature now as at any other time. One of the wardens observed that the condemned man slept soundly last night, which caused Midgets to say that he sought spiritual rest, something that could not be obtained in this world. He further stated that he had made his peace with God, and that the pleasures of this world were not what he was seeking. When asked if he wanted anything, Midgets said he desired a can of peaches, some cake and cigars. He was assured that these articles would be brought him. Midgets was asked if he had been reading the Bible today. He replied that he had not, but had been perusing his prayer book. When asked if he had anything to add to the statements he made last spring before the Corporation Court and in December before the same tribunal when he was sentenced to be hanged, he replied that he had not; that what he uttered on those occasions was practically all he had to say concerning his case.

Midgets at this juncture asked City Sergeant Cox if it would be convenient to hang him at one o'clock tomorrow morning instead of after the sun rose, as he had an aversion to being made a spectacle before any large assemblage. The sergeant told him his request could not be granted, as the sentence provided that the execution take place between 6 a. m. and 12 m. tomorrow. Midgets pleasantly replied, "All right, then."

Later several colored prisoners were ushered into the corridor. After they had lined up in front of Midgets' cell they sang from a book a well-known hymn—

Blessed assurance, Jesus is mine!
Oh what a foretaste of glory divine!

Midgets joined heartily in the singing of the hymn. The darkeys sang well and earnestly.

The following correspondence explains itself:

COMMONWEALTH OF VIRGINIA,
GOVERNOR'S OFFICE,
Richmond, Va., Jan. 13, 1908.

Judge L. C. Barley,
Alexandria, Va.

My Dear Judge:

Enclosed you will find a letter from Judge Nicol for your consideration. I send this communication to you for such action as you may see proper.

With kind regards and best wishes, I am
Yours, very truly,
CLAUDE A. SWANSON,
Governor of Virginia.

OFFICE OF C. E. NICOL,
Manassas, Va.
January 8, 1908.

Governor Claude A. Swanson,
Richmond, Va.

My Dear Governor: I enclose you a copy of the Alexandria Gazette, under date of January 7, 1908, containing an editorial on the Midgets case.

I did not try the case, nor was I counsel in it, and am not now. In fact, I never saw the prisoner, and have no interest whatever in him, other than that I feel in any human being who is liable to be executed, without his guilt having been established beyond a reasonable doubt. I would suggest that you communicate with Judge Barley, who heard the ease, and Mr. Brent, who prosecuted it, before allowing the execution of Midgets. I do not know who defended the prisoner, but I think the court assigned several members of the bar to represent him, and I have no reason to think that they did not fully and ably represent him, and it is possible that they have applied to you for executive clemency, but on this point I am not advised. I would not suggest any executive clemency other than commutation of the death sentence to life imprisonment. I have no objection to your making any use of this note you may consider proper.

With the highest respect, and with my best regards I remain,
Yours, very truly,
(Signed) C. E. NICOL.

January 14, 1908.

To His Excellency, Claude A. Swanson,
Governor of Virginia.

Sir: I have your esteemed favor of the 13th instant, enclosing Judge Nicol's letter to you of January 8, both of which communications I have shown Mr. Brent, as commonwealth's attorney of this city.

While I would be very glad to see executive clemency extended in cases of capital punishment, especially where I have participated in the trial of them, yet I cannot, with justice to this community, recommend such a course to your excellency in this case. The whole case turned upon the question of identity of the prisoner as being the man who shot the deceased. In my judgment the identity was fully proven both by direct and circumstantial evidence; the prisoner had a fair and impartial hearing, and the jury, after weighing carefully the law and the evidence, rendered the verdict that the prisoner was guilty of murder in the first degree.

I have read the article referred to by Judge Nicol, which appeared in the Alexandria Gazette, dated January 7, and think that the same is unfair and misleading. As a matter of fact, the admitted error which is referred to by the editor was the question of filing a petition for a change of venue. While the record which went to the Court of Appeals shows that such a petition was filed in court, yet it was an inadvertence and a mistake, as no such petition was ever filed or referred to either during or before the trial of the case, although the motion for a change of venue was made, argued and overruled. Section 4076 of the Code provides that a petition must be filed.

I understand that a petition for executive clemency will be presented to your excellency, but I am unfamiliar with its character or grounds. Should you desire any further information I will be glad to furnish it.

I am, with great respect,
Your obedient servant,
LOUIS C. BARLEY.

[The Gazette neither intended to be unfair nor was it unfair or misleading in its article of January 7th last. The Editor did not see the record which was sent to the Court of Appeals, but he knows that there were sufficient errors in the case to have secured the man a new trial had the record been signed "in term time," and for this reason stated in the article referred to: "In other words through a technicality the man was denied a new trial, which might have saved his life."]

ASSAILANTS IDENTIFIED.

Chief Goode, Lieutenant Smith and Officers Bell, Knight, Talbot and Rawlett yesterday evening arrested six young Alexandrians on suspicion of being implicated in the shooting of T. J. Snyder on Shooter's Hill, a short distance from this city, on Tuesday night. Three of the suspects were subsequently released, but Edward Downs, Harry Hicks and Wilbert Cook were held, it being alleged that they told contradictory stories concerning their whereabouts on the night of the holdup and shooting.

The trio were conducted this morning to the Alexandria Hospital and brought into Snyder's presence. The latter, after surveying the men, positively identified Downs as the man who did the shooting. Hicks, Snyder said, was with Downs, while Cook stood behind them. The accused were subsequently returned to the station house, where they will be held.

Snyder's condition this morning was still grave. As was stated yesterday, the unfortunate man has a wife and several children—one 18 days old—which the distracted mother was compelled to leave yesterday in order to come to this city to see her husband.

The police ascertained today that one of the men now in custody purchased a pistol from a man in the western section of the city Tuesday, and about ten o'clock that night the man from whom it had been obtained bought it back from the purchaser.

The three men, after having been identified by Snyder, were brought before Pincket, the colored man who was relieved of his watch early Tuesday night by three men on the Shooter's Hill road. Pincket said he could not positively identify the men as the footpads, but that they resembled them in statue.

ELKS' CARNIVAL.

The hammer and saw are playing a merry tune in putting together the booths for use at the Elks' Carnival commencing next Monday at Armory Hall. Everything is in readiness for the starting in motion of one of the most pleasant entertainments in local history. The ladies are working assiduously for the success of the portion they represent and the tailoresses of Alexandria have been as busy as bees adorning the natural beauty which make up the corps of ladies who will preside over the destinies of the carnival. Everything that goes to make up enjoyment has been studied out by the male portion of the committee and they guarantee to please the most fastidious. Those who miss the carnival have only themselves to blame, for it is said that without doubt it will be the most amusing mid-winter entertainment ever given in this city.

EXCITING RUNAWAY.

A two-horse team, belonging to Mr. O. C. Jones, of Annandale, Fairfax county, ran away from the corner of King and Lee streets yesterday afternoon. The horses dashed up King street at a rapid gait, causing a stampede of people on that thoroughfare to places of safety. The frightened animals were given the right of way, and they did not stop until they had reached Commerce street, where they sidewiped a wagon which was standing in front of a store. Fortunately no electric cars were on the street at the time. The horses escaped injury and the carriage to which they were attached was not materially damaged.

MAN AND BOY FIGHT.

Some excitement was caused on Fairfax street, between King and Prince, late yesterday evening, by a young man and a boy who engaged in a fight. The trouble was precipitated by the youth who threw a snowball at the young man who was in charge of a milk wagon. It was alleged that a stone was encased in the snowball, and the victim of the assault became so incensed that he attacked the youth. The latter fought with desperation, and a crowd soon gathered. The young man, later drove off and the crowd dispersed.

POLICE COURT.

[Justice H. B. Caton presiding.]

The following cases were disposed of this morning:

Ella Thornton, colored, charged with the larceny of money from Henry Williams, was dismissed.

A white man, charged with non-support of his family, had his case sent on to the Corporation Court.

Harry Hicks, Edward Downs and Wilbert Cook, suspected of shooting T. J. Snyder, were held.

ARRESTED BY U. S. DEPUTY MARSHAL.

U. S. Deputy Marshal J. F. Glover, of Alexandria, was in Fredericksburg Wednesday and went to White Oak, in Stafford, where he arrested Dora White, colored, for sending obscene letters through the mails. She was taken before U. S. Commissioner W. W. Butzner, in Fredericksburg, and sent to jail in default of bail. The accused is the same woman charged with the theft recently of Mrs. D. M. Lee's diamond ring.

FANCHON CLUB.

The Fanchon Pleasure Club gave its fourth dance of the season last night at McBurney's Hall which was one of the prettiest affairs of the season. The color scheme was smilax, with red white and amber electric lights which made a beautiful picture long to be remembered. Guests were present from Washington, Baltimore, New York and this city. The club will not have no dance next Wednesday but will resume dancing Wednesday week.

Some broken sizes in Hess shoes $5 and $6 grades, $2.50 get them, if you are quick. Marshall, 422 King street

THE CAMERON CLUB.

Under the auspices of the Cameron Club the second lecture of the year's series will be given on Monday night, February 17, at 8 o'clock, not as heretofore at Lee Camp Hall, but at Christ Church Parish Hall. The address will be made by Mr. Angus Crawford, of Seminary Hill, on the Spirit of the Renaissance and illustrated by a number of stereopticon views. This lecture has been given elsewhere and greatly enjoyed.

PERSONAL.

Mr. Ray Winston of this city left Saturday for a two weeks visit to Middleburg.

Miss L. Virginia Brockett, formerly of this city, and who has a large circle of friends and relatives here, is seriously ill at the residence of her niece, Mrs. Leschmann, in Washington.

Mr. R. L. Brockett, formerly of this city, is quite ill at his home in Atlanta.

Miss Kate and Miss Julia Monroe are spending the winter with their brother-in-law and sister, Lieutenant and Mrs. Nash, in New York.

Rev. W. J. Morton is confined to his home with a severe cold.

Yesterday afternoon Mrs. Wm. A. Smoot, of "Colross," very delightfully entertained the member of "Over the Teacups" and a few invited guests with a most interesting and beautifully illustrated talk on "The Early Religions of Syria."

Messrs. Thos. A. Fisher, C. B. Marshall, R. W. Arnold, J. E. Shinn and other Alexandrians, who attended the meeting of the Grand Lodge of Masons in Richmond, have returned to this city much pleased with their visit.

MR. TOWNE'S LECTURE.

Mr. Towne's lecture, "A Hop, Step and Jump through the Orient," based on a journey to the far East last summer, and comprising a sort of running account of the journey, with descriptions of the people and the countries, and some reference to the great world problems centering in the Orient, will be an event of extraordinary interest to the people of this city, especially to those who heard his great address at the Washington Lodge banquet.

Mr. Towne will lecture in the Young People's Building Friday evening, February 14th.

PATRIOTIC SERVICE.

There will be a religious and patriotic service on the morning of the 22nd of February in Christ Church, at ten o'clock, under the auspices of Mt. Vernon Chapter D. A. R. Right Rev. A. M. Randolph, Bishop of Southern Virginia, will deliver an address on General George Washington. The quartette choir of Christ Church will render the music and the offertory will be for old Pohick Church in the restoration of which Mt. Vernon Chapter has been interested for some years.

BIRTHDAY EXERCISES.

Services in connection with the anniversary of the birthday of Fred Douglass will be held in Roberts Chapel next Sunday afternoon. The exercises will be under the auspices of the Lincoln Emancipation Association of Northern Virginia, Magnus L. Robinson, president. Robt. H. Terrell, of Washington, and R. R. Horner, formerly of Warrenton, are expected to be among the speakers. Special music will be provided for the occasion.

BASKETBALL.

The Alexandria Athletic Association will play the Olympia basketball team of Washington tomorrow night at Schulers Hall. The game will start at 8 o'clock.

In Washington last night the Alexandria Athletic Association team was defeated by the Y. M. C. A. team of that city by a score of 39 to 28.

CHARTER.

A charter has been granted to the American Traffic Association, the object of which is to furnish information as to traffic, routes, laws regulating traffic, &c. The officers are Messrs. J. H. Weaver, president; E. V. Illman, secretary, and D. A. DeLashmutt, treasurer, all of Washington. Mr. J. R. Caton is the local attorney.

THE WEATHER AND THE RIVER.

Rain began to fall last night and continued today at intervals. The snow which had been on the streets is rapidly disappearing.

The ice in the river is breaking up in the vicinity of this city, and now affords but little impediment to navigation.

CHIEF MARSHAL.

The parade committee of the George Washington Birthday Association have chosen Maj. Hatfield, U. S. A., now stationed at Fort Myer, to be chief marshal of the parade to be held in this city, on the twenty-second of February. Maj. Hatfield will name his aides at an early date.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

Tomorrow will be St. Valentine's Day.

Osceola Tribe of Red Men will meet tonight when degree work will be confirmed.

Al. Farmer, aged 45 years, died at his room in the Braddock House this morning.

The report that a young man of this city was shot at on Shooter's Hill last night was incorrect.

There will be a game of polo at the skating rink at Armory Hall tonight. Tomorrow night there will be a box party and races.

A meeting of the Relief Hook and Ladder Company will be held tomorrow night. The members are requested to appear in uniform.

A lady living in the extreme northwestern section of the city shot at a man who was invading her premises last night. The trespasser ran off.

The George Washington Birthday Association today sent out invitations to the distinguished guests who are expected to visit this city on the 22nd instant.

Mr. William Fair, an old and esteemed citizen of Prince William county, died on Tuesday at his home, six miles south of Manassas. He was a relative of Capt. A. J. Fair, of this city.

Chief Pettey, of the fire department, has received a letter from Mr. T. C. Smith, cashier of the Alexandria National Bank, extending the thanks of the bank to the chief and the firemen for the prompt and efficient manner in which the fire in that building on Tuesday night was subdued.

NIP IT IN THE BUD.

First Appearance of Dandruff a Forerunner of Future Baldness.

That such is the case has been conclusively proven by scientific research. Prof. Unna, the noted European skin specialist, declares that dandruff is the burrowed-up cuticle of the scalp, caused by parasites destroying the vitality in the hair bulb. The hair becomes lifeless, and, in time, falls out. This can be prevented.

Newbro's Herpicide kills this dandruff germ, and restores the hair to its natural softness and abundancy.

Herpicide is now used by thousands of people—all satisfied that it is the most wonderful hair preparation on the market.

Sold by E. S. Leadbeater & Bro., agents. Sends 10c in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. 115

The Tailor and the College Humorist.

Perennial victims of the humorous paper at Yale are the familiar campus characters, Jim Donnelly, the policeman; Pop Warner, the "teeming expressman," so called because he delivers his goods in an automobile, and Rosenberg Sons, the suit pressers, about whom, in a Pegasian flight of distress at the time of the junior prom., the Record uttered these winged words:

Oh, Rosenberg, dear Rosenberg,
Thy sons we'll ne'er forget.
That suit of clothes,
God only knows,
I'm waiting for them yet.

I'll miss that train. I'll go insane
And rip and tear and cuss.
Just out of reach
There goes that peach
I've missed my chance to fuss.

With this same suit presser as hero, the story is told on a popular professor that in leading chapel one morning he stopped short, leaned over and whispered excitedly to the choir, "What's the name of that song, 'Press On, Christian Soldier, Press On?'" "Rosenberg!" came from a dozen men at once. "We'll sing three stanzas of Rosenberg!" said the leader, with ecclesiastical assurance.—E. R. Embree in Bohemian.

In a Nitroglycerin "Hill."

In the "danger area" the severest discipline is maintained. All entrances are carefully guarded by searchers, who rigorously examine every individual that desires to enter, relieving him of any metallic objects that may be carried upon his person, together with matches and other suspicious objects which upon coming into contact with the dangerous chemicals used in this zone might provoke serious trouble. No matter how often an employee engaged within the hill may pass in and out, every time he enters he must submit to this preliminary and essential operation. There are also some 500 girls employed, and these are under the charge of matrons. Hairpins, ordinary pins, shoe buttons, metal pegs within the soles of the shoes, knitting and other needles are all religiously barred. Their hair is tied with braid or ribbon, and, as with the male employees, every time they enter the "danger area" they are similarly searched by the matrons. — Scientific American.

A Hard Knock.

Railroad claim agents have little faith in their fellow creatures. One said recently: "Every time I settle a claim with one of these hard headed rural residents who wants the railroad to pay twice what he would charge the butcher if he gets a sheep killed, I think of this story, illustrative of the way some people want to hold the railroad responsible for every accident, of whatever kind, that happens. Two Irishmen were driving home from town one night when their buggy ran into a ditch, overturned, and they were both stunned. When a rescuer came along and revived them the first thing one of them said was, 'Where's the train?' 'Why, there's no train around,' he was told. 'Then where's the railroad?' 'The nearest railroad is three miles away,' he learned. 'Well, well,' he commented. 'I knew it hit us pretty hard, but I didn't suppose it knocked us three miles from the track!'"—Argonaut.

The Page Between.

A New Orleans woman, well known for her work for charity, recently accepted an invitation to speak at an anti-tuberculosis meeting. On the platform she found herself seated between a bishop and a rabbi, and the tone of the meeting seemed to be rendered extremely solemn by the combination.

In order to lighten the solemnity, she said, turning to the rabbi, "Do you know, I feel as if I were a leaf between the Old and the New Testaments."

The rabbi turned a sad eyed gaze upon her.

"Yes, madam," he said, "and, if you will recall, that page is usually a blank one."

She Was a Bit Bashful.

Mr. Peet, a very diffident man, was unable to prevent himself being introduced one evening to a fascinating young lady, who, misunderstanding his name, constantly addressed him as Mr. Peters, much to the gentleman's distress. Finally summoning up the courage, he earnestly remonstrated: "Oh, don't call me Peters. Call me Peet!"

"Ah, but I don't know you well enough, Mr. Peters," said the young lady, blushing, as she withdrew behind her fan.—London Telegraph.

The Onion In Cooking.

The greatest of French cooks, being asked to give the secret of his success, answered: "The very foundation of all good cooking is butter and onion! I use them in all my sauces and gravies. They have the effect of making a customer come back for more. Butter without onion will drive the customer away after a few days. Boil the onion till it melts or entirely disappears: then add the butter and call the mixture stock."—Exchange.

Artificial Flies.

Dame Juliana Berners, prioress of the nunnery of Sapwell, near St. Albans, England, was the author of the first book on angling in the English language, printed in 1496. She gives a list of twelve flies, and now, after a lapse of more than four centuries, artificial flies, constructed after her formulas, would prove as successful as any of the up to date creations.

Helpless.

Ella—What a helpless girl she is! Stella—Yes. If somebody should provide the mistletoe and furnish the man she couldn't do the rest. — Canadian Courier.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy a Favorite.

"We prefer Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to any other for our children," says Mr. L. J. Woodbury of Twining, Mich. "It has also done the work for us in hard colds and croup, and we take pleasure in recommending it." For sale by W. F. Creighton and Richard Gibson.

DeWitt's Carbolized Witch Hazel Salve is especially good for piles. Sold by W. F. Creighton.

A Bell Ridden Town.

A well known tourist of the world has stated as his opinion that Lucerne is the most bell ridden town in Europe. He had assuredly never been to Schwyz. To begin with, the countless cattle that pass through the streets in the small hours of the morning on their way to or from the upland pastures wear bells as big as buckets. And there are church bells too. A fine peal they are, no doubt, but the noble art of bell ringing either never existed or has been lost here. The bells are rung by being smitten or banged together by two small boys, whose legs are plainly visible—an alluring mark for an air gun—through the open louvres of the church tower, the sounds produced being about as edifying as the music of a donkey engine in full play. The performance begins at 4:30 a. m. and continues until early service at 5, and if there is a funeral—which is every other day or so—there will be another sustained burst of melody from 6 to 7. During the remainder of the day the ringing is varied and persistent, but it lacks the irritating power of the early morning exercises. Sooner or later public opinion will be aroused. Those boys will be dragged from their perch, figuratively if not literally, and peace and quiet will reign in the eponymous capital of the confederacy.—Blackwood's Magazine.

Wolves of the Sea.

Of all the inhabitants of the ocean few are more destructive than the sea wolf, a kind of dolphin which attains when full grown a length of fourteen feet and a weight of 3,000 pounds.

A swift swimmer, it is quick in its movements, cunning as a fox and has an insatiable appetite. It feeds on the young of seal, whale and walrus and also on the tongue of the adult whale.

When a mother walrus perceives a sea wolf, she endeavors to throw her cub on to an iceberg if one is near. Failing this, she gets it on top of her head and swims with it above water. But this is vain. Diving far below, the fish of prey comes up with tremendous force, striking the frantic mother a terrific blow and jolting the cub off her head into the water. Here it falls an easy victim to the assailant and is soon devoured.

In its work of destruction the sea wolf is frequently aided by the thrasher, a fish which can deliver a terrible blow with its tail.

Got Something For Nothing.

Mark Twain told how he got something for nothing one day in the early sixties when he needed the money. He walked into a hotel and was petting a strange dog. General Nelson A. Miles, who chanced to be present, offered him $10 for the canine.

"To be frank," said the humorist to General Miles, "I haven't really got any right to sell you this animal, but if you'll give me $3 you may take the pup away when I'm not looking, and I'll not tell who took it."

The bargain was closed, and General Miles took the dog to his room. A moment later the dog's owner inquired for his pet, and Mark Twain offered to find the animal for $3. The humorist then went to General Miles' room and explained all, had the dog returned to him, gave the army officer back his money and returned the canine to its original owner, thereby making $3.

How to Get Poor Quick.

Do not try to save your loose change. It is too small an amount to put in the savings bank. It would not amount to much anyway, and there is great comfort in spending it. Just wait until you get sufficient worth while before you deposit it.

Do not try to economize. It is an infernal nuisance to always try to save a few cents here and there. Besides, you will get the reputation of being mean and stingy. You want everybody to think you are generous.

Just look out for today. Have a good time as you go along. Just use your money yourself. Don't deprive yourself for the sake of laying up something for other people to fight over. Besides, you are sure of today. You might not be alive tomorrow.—Success Magazine.

Helping the Postoffice.

In a history of the great advance in postal methods accomplished by Sir Rowland Hill is given this anecdote: To the postoffice of at that time tiny Ambleside came one day a well to do man to buy a stamp to put on the letter he was about to post. "Is this new reform going to last?" he asked the postmaster. "Certainly," was the reply. "It is quite established." "Oh, well, then," said the man, resolved to give the thing generous support, "give me three stamps!"

His Bachelor's Degree.

"I'm so happy," said Mrs. Oldcastle. "My son is to get his bachelor's degree this year."

"Is he?" replied her hostess. "Well, I can't blame you for feelin' as you do about it. I never thought much of that snippy Wilson girl he's been goin' with. How did you get the match broke off?"—Chicago Record-Herald.

Smoothing the Way.

"My lawyer told me he thought I would have a hard time establishing my claims under the will."

"What did you say?"

"I asked him how much more money he wanted."

When They Are Quiet.

"I like to go to church."

"Why?"

"Well, it's comforting to see a man keep a hundred women or so quiet for an hour."—Bohemian.

Old men's eyes are like old men's memories; they are strongest for things a long way off.—Eliot.

The "pure food law" is designed by the government to protect the public from injurious ingredients in both foods and drugs. It is beneficial both to the public and to the conscientious manufacturer. Ely's Cream Balm, a successful remedy for cold in the head, nasal catarrh, hay fever, etc., containing no injurious drugs, meets fully the requirements of the new law, and that fact is prominently stated on every package. It contains none of the injurious drugs which are required by law to be mentioned on the label. Hence you can use it safely.

A Dramatic Author.

Like most actor managers, Macready was pestered by would be dramatic authors. An ambitious young fellow brought him a five act tragedy one morning to Drury Lane.

"My piece," modestly explained the author, "is a chef d'oeuvre. I will answer for its success, for I have consulted the sanguinary taste of the public. My tragedy is so tragic that all the characters are killed off at the end of the third act."

"With whom, then," asked the manager, "do you carry on the action of the last two acts?"

"With the ghosts of those who died in the third!"—Cornhill Magazine.

Gray Versus Brown Camels.

The length of a stage varies throughout Persia, depending on the character of the country, and is reckoned in farsaks, the old Greek parasang. The farsak is a most elastic and uncertain measure, and as animals are paid for per farsak as many as the credulity of the traveler will allow are crowded into each stage. "How far," I once asked an old Kurdish muleteer, "is a farsak?" "As far as one can distinguish a gray from a brown camel," was the discreet answer. They average about four miles and the stage about six farsaks, or twenty-five miles. —Atlantic.

Thought He Could Buy Them Cheap.

Elderly German (as he calls at a lodging house door)—Glad lady, I saw, yes, der advertisement in der evening paper dat you have a pair of pajamas to sell, yes? Boarding House Mistress (indignantly)—Pajamas! You old fool, do you think this is a department store? Where is the advertisement? The German (producing the advertisement and reading it aloud)—"For sale, von almost new bedroom suit, cheab! Gall and see it."—Bohemian.

Eats 'Em Alive.

"Does this dog like strangers?"

"Loves 'em, ma'am."

"Well, I must have a dog that does not like strangers."

"As I was about to say, ma'am, when you interrupted me, this dog loves strangers an' has eaten several of 'em, ma'am. Yes, ma'am, thank you!"—Houston Post.

Lingering Animosity.

"Those two families in the adjoining flats who used to be at daggers drawn have been reconciled, haven't they?"

"I don't know. They profess friendship, but one family gave the little boy in the other a big toy drum, and the second family gave the first one's oldest boy a fiddle."—Baltimore American.

Life is but a fleeting show, but it is nevertheless the greatest show on earth.—Atchison Globe.
